

THREE OF THE BEST

Hanukkah events

Free doughnuts and massive menorahs, that's how to celebrate the Festival of Lights. Chag sameach!

↑ Chanukah in the Square

A giant menorah will be lit in Trafalgar Square tonight by Mayor of London Sadiq Khan, right beside the new Christmas tree. Go for the free doughnuts, stay for acapella group The Maccabeats. Unless you hate all things acapella: then run.

→ Trafalgar Square. ☉ Charing Cross. Tue Dec 12, 5.30pm. Free.

↑ Candle lighting at the Jewish Museum

Eat yet more free doughnuts while lighting the menorah at the Jewish Museum. While you're there, learn how Jewish immigrants created iconic tube posters and classic British games in the 'Designs on Britain' exhibition.

→ Jewish Museum. ☉ Camden Town. Until Dec 20, 4pm. Free, exhibition entry £8.50.

↑ Islington Menorah Lighting

Get down to the sounds of the London Klezmer Quartet on Islington Green and munch on latkes from nearby kosher restaurant 1701 Kitchen. If you're feeling brave, you can also walk on hot coals for charity. Oy gevalt! ■ Liz Tray

→ Islington Green. ☉ Angel. Sun Dec 17, 5pm-7pm. Free.
